CHICAGO, March 30 .- Prof. Natha niel Smith, head of the department of oriental languages and literature at Cornell university, just returned from a protracted residence in Egypt, Syria and Arabia, criticised former President Roosevelt's recent speech at Cairo at a luncheon given today by the Chicago issociation.

"There are plenty of Americans in Egypt and Arabia today," he said, "who have dealt more tactfully with those numerous questions which go to make peace between nations than did an ex-president of the United States who spoke in Cairo the other day. The speech was rather uncalled for, I speech was rather uncalled for, I think Now, a German would say that Mr. Roosevelt was just right. It is the German policy to lay down the law and if necessary to lay on the lash. They would think it wholly proper that he should tell the Egyptians how to manage their affairs.

"But there is a question in my mind. I lived over there a long time, and I used to read the Egyptian Nationalist newspapers every day. There is really a tremendous feeling.

"I think the truth is that the English policy of pouring money into the Wolter, the youth held for killing fifteen-year-old Ruth Wheeler. Wolter will probably be brought to trial next Monday.

Wolter, at the inquest, presented a remarkable contrast to the youth who, only a few days ago, made his first entry into the case. Katle Miller, his young woman companion, who also is being detained, came into court shortly after Wolter. She glanced at the prisoner, but he took no notice of her.

Both Pearl and Adelaide Whoeler, sisters of the dead girl, testified to the facts concerning the search for Ruth which had already been brought out. They identified various articles belonging to their sister found in Wolter's rooms and in the bundle containing the body, which was thrown into the yard off the Wolter house from the fire escape, where it was discovered. Katle Miller testified to Wolter's mysterious movements about the fire escape, where it was discovered.
